Engage • Consult • Deliver

Empiric is a multi-award winning business and one of the fastest growing technology and transformation recruitment agencies specialising in data, digital, cloud and security. We supply technology and change recruitment services to businesses looking for both contract and permanent professionals.

Understanding your needs

We specialise in delivering you niche tech & change professionals by investing our time into engaging and nurturing relationships within the IT and Change community.

This enables us to consult, identify and place unique talent within your business that will help you achieve your business goals.

Providing technology & change recruitment solutions globally

Empiric has expanded to place experienced IT professionals across the UK, Western and Central Europe, the Nordics and North America.

Benefits of using empiric

Delivering talent

All our consultants are measured on the engagement they have with tech & change professionals, the community they operate in and the relationships they build with skilled professionals. Our proactive investment in engaging with top talent gives us a greater insight into what would interest them should the right role arise. The speed in which we can deliver a short list of relevant candidates that meet your unique needs is testament to our successful community investment.

We are committed to delivering you more female candidates and those from minority backgrounds. Through our community initiatives we are attracting skilled professionals from diverse groups which in turn can help you meet your own diversity commitments.

Client Services

We provide contingent, SOW and retained recruitment services.

Collaboration is a cornerstone of our business which allows us to deliver a seamless integration of services to you across our specialist areas. Through our structured delivery and discipline within the tech and change sector, we can provide you with a customised service that rapidly delivers results.

We are not a transactional recruitment agency. In consultation with you we will identify the best talent that meets your technical needs and business cultural fit. Our 'no stone unturned' approach ensures that we deliver quality not quantity which is why we don't promise to send you a minimum number of CVs.

Investing in the tech community

We invest our resources into providing an immersive and engaging experience with the tech & transformational community. Empiric's vision is to be instrumental in changing the gender and diversity imbalance by championing these groups and delivering you more female and minority group talent.

Through original, insightful content, bespoke events and our initiatives such as Next Tech Girls aimed at raising the profile of minority groups, we will engage and deliver you a diverse selection of candidates.
